Girls and Bank Accounts

If we could see into the future we could plan accordingly, but not being able to do so we should guard against eventualities as much as possible.

Many a young girl has been unexpectedly thrown on her own resources through the death of her parents; many a woman has been left a widow without a cent; others with some means, but no experience of money matters.

It is neglectful—yes, cruel—of parents not to bring up their daughters as well as their sons in habits of thrift and teach them the uses and advantages of a bank account.

It is never too soon to teach them the value of money, never too soon to open bank accounts in their names.

We pay 3% Compound Interest on Savings Accounts.

Explanatory note for "A Midway from Lullaby Flute."
Sidney Lanier, one of the most famous of American poets, was also a great flute player. He was a gallant soldier in the civil war, and during the war was imprisoned in Point Lookout Prison, Virginia. He always carried his flute with him, and he played the prison managed to pass the prison guard with his flute concealed up his sleeve, and afterward used to delight his comrades behind the prison bars with the most wonderful flute music.

One of his comrades and closest friends in those prison days was the Baltimore poet, John R. B. Taylor, who came after the war a professor at St. Charles College, near Ellicott City, Md. One of Mr. Lanier's favorite tunes during the days in prison was the plaintive melody which is now played by the Marine Band. Many years after the war John R. B. Taylor hummed this melody from memory to Mr. Turnbull who arranged and harmonized it.

'SUFFRAGISTS TO STAND ALONE,' SAYS MRS. FUNK

Church, in U street, Rev. Hugh T. Stevenson, pastor of the church, officiating. After a visit to Atlantic City Mr. and Mrs. Landvoigt will return to Washington, and will be at home to their friends after June 1.

Mrs. Walter R. Croley, wife of Commander Croley, will chaperon a party of young folk at Annapolis during June. She will be the guest of Mrs. Elmer and Mrs. Landvoigt, who will stay at Carvel Hill, and the young girls of the party will be Miss Dorothy Black, Miss Mary Lord Andrews, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Elphinstone Andrews, and Miss Dorothy Dunn.

Women's Organization Refuses to Become Allies with Any Political Party Whatever.

MANY OFFERS TURNED DOWN

"It is perfectly natural that any organization which is in politics would like to have the suffragists as an ally," said Mrs. Antoinette Funk, of the national Congressional committee yesterday. "Women suffragists receive offers to make political combinations with different organizations which we recognize as a tribute to our power in politics, but which we always decline."

"We are glad to have the co-operation of any organization. We welcome support from any political party, but we cannot become the ally of any party or organization."

"It has been found that many of the women of the country who are working for suffrage also are working for the betterment of the human race in other organizations. It thus happens that those who are strong for the advancement of mankind and who are trying to help humanity find themselves associated with suffragists."

"But it does not follow that the suffragists become allies of these organizations, however meritorious individuals consider them. Whatever may be our individual views as to Democracy, Republicanism, Progressivism, Prohibition, Socialism, or any one of the dozen organizations political in character, we, as an organization, cannot support any of them because we are seeking universal suffrage regardless of party politics or other organizations, and pursuing a nonpartisan policy."

COUNTRY CIRCUS WILL PROVE UNIQUE AFFAIR

Men of Emmanuel Church to Complete Plans Today for Wednesday's Carnival.

Plans will be completed today for the country circus and carnival to be given by the men of Emmanuel Church in the parish hall in V street next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. Those in charge of the affair say it will be a most unique performance.

The interior of the hall will be made to resemble a tent and a large ring placed in the center. Around this circus seats will be placed. A country store will be a feature of the carnival. The members of the Ladies' Guild will have charge of this feature. There will be several side shows and the animals seen at the regular circus will be on hand in the form of persons impersonating them. Those in attendance have been requested to wear "rube" costumes at each performance and a prize will be given to the person appearing in the best make-up. A street parade is to follow the first and last performances, the members of the Annapolis Boy Scouts having a prominent position in the parade.

At St. Teresa's Church announcement was made that the annual May procession would be held next Sunday, and the same route for this procession had been decided upon as last year. Miss Agnes Reagan will be the "queen" in the procession. She will name her attendants this week.

It is believed by citizens of Randle Highlands that they need have no further fear that the chemical engine company in that suburb will be removed. It was suggested by the subcommittee of the House District Committee that the men and equipment of this command be removed to another part of the District, but the Senate committee has stricken out the wording that would accomplish this, and it is believed by those interested that no such clause will be left in the bill. A special committee, however, will continue in its efforts to see that the bill finally passes without this stipulation.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, known the world over as "Jim Ham," the Pink Whiskered Prodigy, has become tired of being twitted about his hirsute adornment.

Enfolded in his toga, the whip of the Senate has arisen to remark that he has lost all patience with undisciplined jesters who sum up his extremely odd and varied career in so-called funny comments upon his dress and his beard.

Delivers Rebuke to Jesters.

He insists that his beard is an intimate personal matter, and in an interview delivered himself of these remarks: "I am glad to contribute to the prosperity of the country by having my superficial peculiarities furnish material for the struggling efforts of the coddling geniuses of journalism; but I have done my share, and it is time that our experimental literary citizens should turn their attention to the gentleman who, so the newspapers tell us, has discovered a method of breeding blue pigs, or to the inventor of the noiseless hammer."

"Pray forgive me if I show some slight signs of impatience, but the fact is that there are moments when it is borne in upon me with some force that jests about a gentleman's whiskers and waist-coats fall considerably short of bigraphical completeness, and do little credit to the discernment of certain writers, and show less respect for sensible readers."

Clothes which would pass without comment along the Strand attract a good deal of attention in the capital of a nation of which it has been said that all its men dress as if they went to the same tailor. Washington was inexorably surprised about this time last summer when Senator Lewis went to the Capitol in a cream-colored suit, white shoes, white socks, a white waistcoat, a lavender silk shirt, a white silk tie, a black silk eyeglass cord, a lavender tinted handkerchief, and white silk gloves.

"Time to Quit."

This year Washington has been forewarned, and hence the solemn thinks it is time enough for good-natured jesters to turn elsewhere for subjects to appease a humor-starved community.

A friend of the man who has been called the "Aurora Borealis of Illinois" yesterday pointed out that whiskered men have done much for the progress, culture, and entertainment of the world, and gave the following list: Plato, Socrates, Theocritus, Demosthenes, Franklin, Darwin, Browning, Tennyson, Lowell, Longfellow, Greeley, Marcus Aurelius, Brahms, Garibaldi, Lord Kelvin, Simon Newcomb, Dickens, Tolstol, Rodin, Alfred Russell
